JACKSON, Reginald, Acting Commander, VRD - Officer - Order of the British Empire (OBE) - RCNVR - Awarded as per Canada Gazette of 16 June 1945 and London Gazette of 14 June 1945.

Born in 1906 in Wales, United Kingdom.

He came to Canada in 1909 with his parents.

Home: Calgary, Alberta

In 1923, at the age of 17, he joined the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve (RCNVR) as a telegraphist in the Calgary Half Company as one of its original members.

He was commissioned as a Sub-Lieutenant in 1931.

Commanding Officer of Calgary Half Company, RCNVR from 1933 to 1935 as a Lieutenant, RCNVR.

Commanding Officer of Calgary Division from 1935 to 1 April 1940 as a Lieutenant, RCNVR.

First Commanding Officer of HMCS Kenogami (Flower Class Corvette - K125) from 29 June 1941 to 21 November 1942.

First Commanding Officer of HMCS Sault Ste Marie (Algerine Class Minesweeper - J334) from 24 June 1943 to 11 February 1944.

Awarded RCNVR Officer's Decoration (VRD) on 7 February 1944.

Commanding Officer of HMCS Star (Hamilton Naval Reserve Unit) from 28 March 1944 to 29 March 1945 with the rank of Lieutenant-Commander.

Promoted to Commander 1 January 1946.

Commanding Officer of HMCS Tecumseh (Naval Reserve Unit Calgary) from 30 September 1946 to 31 December 1949.

Promoted to Captain RCN(R) on 01 July 1950 while Commanding Officer of HMCS Malahat (Victoria).

Commanding Officer of HMCS Malahat from 1 January 1950 to 01 September 1952.

Captain Jackson was nicknamed "Cowboy" because he was a prairie sailor.

Captain Jackson's service is commemorated by a bronze plaque, mounted on HMCS Tecumseh's quarterdeck:

"In war and in peace, for twenty-two years, this Officer has given unstintingly of his time and effort to the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. He has at all times served faithfully and with great credit to the Service in command of Naval Divisions ashore and of His Majesty's Canadian ships at sea. It is largely due to the vision and untiring loyalty of Officers of the calibre of Commander Jackson that the Volunteer Reserve has been able to make such a magnificent contribution to the success of Canada's war at sea."

His other accomplishments include four times as president of the Southern Alberta Division of the Navy League of Canada, past president of the Calgary Branch of Naval Officers Association of Canada (NOAC), and first naval president of the Calgary United Services Institute (now Royal Alberta Unit Services).

In 1955, The Naval Cadet Corps at HMCS Tecuseh was named after Captain Reginald Jackson, on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

Captain Jackson passed away in 1978.

Home: Halifax, Nova Scotia.

JAMES. Henry, 2846, PO, RCN, MID~[16.6.45]

"For outstanding efficiency, energy, and devotion to duty during a long period at sea. This Petty Officer set a particularly fine example to all those serving under him while in charge of HMCS Chaudiere's depth charge party during the period May to December, 1944, when the ship did a high percentage of sea time, carried out a very large number of attacks and assisted at the destruction of one U-boat and the probably destruction of another."

HMCS Chaudiere (River Class Destroyers - H99), HMCS Ottawa (I), and HMCS Kootenay sank U-621 in the Bay of Biscay on 18 August 1944. They also sank a second U-Boat, U-984 on 20 August 1944 as well. These actions are described in Chapter 49 of "The Canadian Naval Chronicle 1939 - 1945".

JOHNSON, Arnold Livingstone, Surgeon Lieutenant - Mention in Despatches - RCNVR / HMCS Assiniboine - Awarded as per Canada
Gazette of 12 December 1942 and London Gazette of 3 December 1942.

Home: Montreal, Quebec.

He was a medical graduate of McGill University in 1940.

He served with Surgeon Captain Charles Best at the RCN Hospital in St. John's Newfoundland in 1944 and treated the survivors of the sinking of HMCS Valleyfield.

In 1977, he was a Professor in the Department of Clinical Epidemiology and Biostatistics at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario.

Surgeon Lieutenant Arnold Livingstone Johnson, RCNVR

Dr. Arnold L. Johnson, 93, died Thursday, October 19 in Hamilton following a brief illness. He was born in 1916. A distinguished professor emeritus in McMaster University's Department of Clinical Epidemiology and Biostatistics, Dr. Johnson first earned an international reputation for his innovative contributions to cardiology. After he retired he made his name again as he took a prominent role in developing, promoting and teaching of ethical decision making in health care.

More than 50 years ago, Dr. Johnson performed the first heart catheterization for congenital heart disease in Canada. He went on to pioneer the application of both internal and external pacemakers for the treatment of heart block and established the first comprehensive program for cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

"Dr. Arnold Johnson is the father of cardiology in Hamilton," said cardiologist Dr. Salim Yusuf, a professor, director of McMaster's Population Health Research Institute and Heart and Stroke Foundation chair in cardiology. "He was much loved, admired and respected. We all owe him a deep debt of gratitude."

Dr. Johnson's long and distinguished career in academic medicine began at McGill University in 1946. From 1971 to 1973, he spent two years as a Senior Fellow at Laval University and the University of North Carolina studying clinical epidemiology. In 1974, he joined the Department of Clinical Epidemiology and Biostatistics in the Faculty of Health Sciences at McMaster University where he continued his career in research, education and clinical care.

Upon his retirement in 1983, Dr. Johnson assumed a prominent role in the development, promotion and teaching of ethical decision-making within hospital and health care settings. He became the impetus for efforts in this area in McMaster's Faculty of Health Sciences. While chairing a multi-disciplinary clinical ethics committee at the former Chedoke-McMaster Hospital, he established and chaired a committee on Education in Medical Ethics for the Faculty of Health Sciences.

These efforts led to the writing of a ground breaking booklet for the university's MD program entitled Introduction to Ethical Decision Making in the Health Care Setting. The Faculty of Health Sciences' focus on medical ethics today is largely due to Dr. Arnold's initiative, inspiration, dedication and work, culminating in the creation of the Arnold L. Johnson Chair in Health Care Ethics.

Dr. Johnson was honoured by McMaster's Faculty of Health Sciences with the establishment of the annual Arnold L. Johnson Lectureship in Cardiology. In 2002, McMaster University awarded him an honorary Doctorate of Science.

Associate professor Lisa Schwartz, who holds the endowed chair position, called Dr. Johnson a compassionate and remarkable person. A former patient of his told her she owes her life to this stern, but fatherly, doctor. "He and the late Dr. John Thomas were the spark behind the establishment of the first clinical ethics committee in Canada," she said.

Dr. Johnson was active at the University until he was 90. Colleagues recognized him as a man of exceptional ability. "He was a pioneer in cardiology who had a broad vision and a very rich career which included not only cardiology but health care research and health care ethics. He made an enormous contribution," said Dr. Brian Haynes, chair and professor of clinical epidemiology and biostatistics at McMaster.

Dr. Arnold is survived by his wife, Anne, two children, Philip and Nancy, and two grandchildren.

"For courage, resolution and devotion to duty in HMCS Haida in action with enemy destroyers in rescuing survivors from HMCS Athabaskan."

While on patrol in the Bay of Biscay Patrol area at 1300 Hours on 27 August 1943, HMCS Athabaskan was attacked by eighteen enemy Dornier-217s. HMS Egret (British Sloop) was sunk. A glide bomb hit HMCS Athabaskan at the junction of "B" gun-deck and the wheel-house. HMCS Athabaskan continued on at 14 knots, correcting a serious list to starboard. The ship sailed into port on 30 August 1943 under her own power. The ship was battered but not broken. See the book "Unlucky Lady".
